HIS IDEAL

He'd have the stars for her to wear,
Such dizzy heights do lovers dare!
And Orient pearls from out the deep
With her alone to wake and sleep.
And in his praises she is May
And Queen of Beauty, Dawn of Day:
She sits upon a thousand thrones,
Poor, blushing little Mary Jones!

Richard Kirk.

CAUGHT.

She wafted a kiss from her lips;
Just a simple flutter of finger tips:
A gesture sweet I thought it.

'Why sing a song about this?
You may think there's naught in it—
wafted kiss—
But then, you see, I caught it!

ST. CECILIA CLUB—

On Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ethel Williams, on North Oates Street, the St. Cecilia Club held the first meeting of the year. It was a delightful meeting in every way, and the members enjoyed a pleasant exchange of greetings, after the summer vacation.

The home was bright with a profusion of late summer flowers and pot plants.

The new president, Miss Evelyn Farmer, presided. After a short business session, the following program was rendered.

Piano, selected.—Miss Elsie Mae Roland, Miss Iona Hall. Vocal, Duets selected, Miss Fadner and Mrs. D. C. Carmichael.

Piano, selected, Mrs. Saxon Payne. Paper, "Music" Mrs. E. N. Passmore.

Piano and Violin, Selected, Misses Louise and Rosemary Lee.

The efficient officers of the new year are: President, Miss Farmer; Vice President, Mrs. E. N. Passmore; Secretary, Mrs. Ethel Williams; Treasurer, Mrs. O. R. Morgan; Choral Accompanist, Mrs. H. G. Forrester; Choral Director, Mrs. S. O. Williams; Director, Mrs. A. E. Pace.

After the program a delicious salad course with ginger ale was served by Mrs. Williams, assisted by little Miss Ethel Williams.

THE DOTHAN HARMONY CLUB—

Mrs. J. W. Grant was the gracious hostess to the members of the Dothan Harmony Club Thursday afternoon, October the eighth.

The palatial home was tastily arranged with pot plants and roses. As the members arrived refreshing punch and sandwiches were served, Mrs. R. D. Blackshear, assisting Mrs. Grant in serving.

A short business session was held including a report from the Prospective Committee, Mrs. Tutwiler, Mrs. Blackshear and Mrs. Wilson. The retiring president, Mrs. C. B. Tutwiler, gave an interesting talk, after which the president, Mrs. J. W. Grant, installed the following officers: Vice President, Mrs. R. D. Blackshear; Secretary, Mrs. G. M. Lewis; Treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Renfro; Director and Accompanist, Mrs. W. S. Wilson; Librarian, Miss Florrie Malone.

LOOKING THEM OVER.

The curiosity of humanity is wonderful, and defies analysis, and all species of the human family, both male and female alike, are victims of this particular trait. For instance, a six-cylinder Buick automobile, from another town, attracted a great deal of attention, notwithstanding that a similar car is owned by a Dothan man, and seen on the streets often. The car was parked on Foster street, and thoroughly inspected. The owner will probably go away feeling that he showed Dothan something new, and never realize his mistake. As the Chamber of Commerce says, "We do things in Dothan,"—even stare at strangers' automobiles.

Eagle Want Ads. "Hing the Bell."

Wouldn't Do in America.

A woman from Germany was visiting little Herman's mother one day. Herman was trying to make a kite. He asked the guest if she knew how to make a tail for his kite. She told him she did not know how the little American boys made tails for their kites, but she knew how the little German boys made them. She knotted up some strips of paper, and when he saw it he said: "Oh, my, that will never fly in America."

The Champion Boston Braves

This is the crowd upon which George Stallings is depending to bring the next World's Championship to Boston. Their leader is a gigantic task for, between them and the world's pennant they seek there stands a sturdy nine generated by one Connie Mack, battle for the pennant, a battle that will overshadow the bloodiest battle of Europe's war, for a day or two at least, will take place in Park, Philadelphia, the home grounds of the Athletics today. The game tomorrow will also be played in Philadelphia and the odds in Boston with a two day stand. The odds at the present moment are 5 to 4 in the Athletics favor. What others think of the odds to grab the flag doesn't bother Stallings. He thinks they're going to win—and no one in the baseball world would be greatly surprised if they do.

"Israfel" Angel of Music.

Israfel or Israfil, in Mohammedan mythology, was the angel of music, who possesses the most melodious voice of all God's creatures. This is the angel who is to sound the resurrection trumpet, and will ravish the ears of the saints in Paradise. Israfel, Gabriel and Michael, were the three angels that warned Abraham of Sodom's destruction. In the Koran we read: "and the angel Israfel, whose heart-strings are a lute, and who has the sweetest voice of all God's creatures."

Cyclones of Peculiar Shape.

Cyclones are nearly always funny, shaped, although sometimes they may resemble an hour glass. The Shelbyville, Tenn., storm was said to have had two wings and to have looked like a large, sinister bird. These cyclones and came to the ground with great fury.

No Cause for Worry.

Mrs. Plank had secured a new and most excellent cook, and, having lost several equally good cooks through the subtle workings of Cupid, she was a little disturbed when she came across her valued Amanda walking in the park with a man. The next day she said to Amanda: "I saw you walking in the park with a gentleman yesterday afternoon, Amanda. I hope he will not be taking you away from me some day." "La, ma'am, don't you be skeered none about that," replied Amanda. "In the first place he ain't no gentleman, an' in the next place he's my husband. Don't you worry none, ma'am."

Poor Chance for Millennium.

If the millennium doesn't show up until a mother admits that her own children are naughty and those next door are angels it will never arrive.

Scott Liked Work-Pressure.

Scott, who was poet, novelist, lawyer, too, would have been greatest of all as journalist. Listen to this from his Journal for February 15, 1926: "Yesterday I did not write a line of 'Woodstock.' Partly, I was a little out of spirits. . . . Partly, I wanted to wait for some new ideas. . . . Partly, I was a little too far beyond the press. I cannot pull well in long traces, when the draught is too far behind me. I love to have the press thumping, clattering and banging in my rear; it creates the necessity which almost makes me work best. Needs must when the devil drives. . . . There is the very spirit of journalism; and that devil, surely, is the printer's devil!"

Sim and Mrs. Sim.

"The difference between me and him," said Mrs. Sim Heckle yesterday "is that Sim preaches economy and I practice it."—Topeka Capital.

Eighteen Years in Cold Storage.

It is an axiom of good cooking that beef should be well hung before being sent to the chef, but the owners of a certain hind-quarter which was exhibited at Smithfield market in London recently have surely gone to rather extreme lengths in this matter, for they have kept it in cold storage for 18 years. When it was taken "off the ice," so to speak, and looked at by experts armed with nothing more formidable than magnifying glasses, they unanimously reported that it was still sweet and sound, and apparently lacking but little in nutritive qualities. A piece was cut off and sent to the analysts so that they might ascertain by scientific methods exactly what chemical changes, if any, it had undergone. The now famous joint was shipped in 1896, and sold to a firm of military contractors at Malta, who retained it in their cold store there for experimental purposes until the government took over their warehouse some months ago, when the quarter was sent on to London.
